DIFFICULT RELATIONS. INSTITUTIONAL CENSORSHIP AND THE SAMIZDAT
("SECOND CIRCULATION") IN POLAND 1976–1990. A LITERARY STUDIES PERSPECTIVE

ABSTRACT

In the article, the author discusses the relationship between institutional censorship and samizdat ("second circulation") in Poland in 1976–1990. The article is based on archival searches conducted in the documents of institutional censorship. The content is arranged chronologically and by issue. The article focuses on the censorship of Polish fiction, hypothesizing that changes in the relationship between censorship and the samizdat ("second circulation") are closely related to political crises, followed by changes in the level of sharpness of control.

KEY WORDS censorship, samizdat, Polish literature, communism, 1976–1990 period
